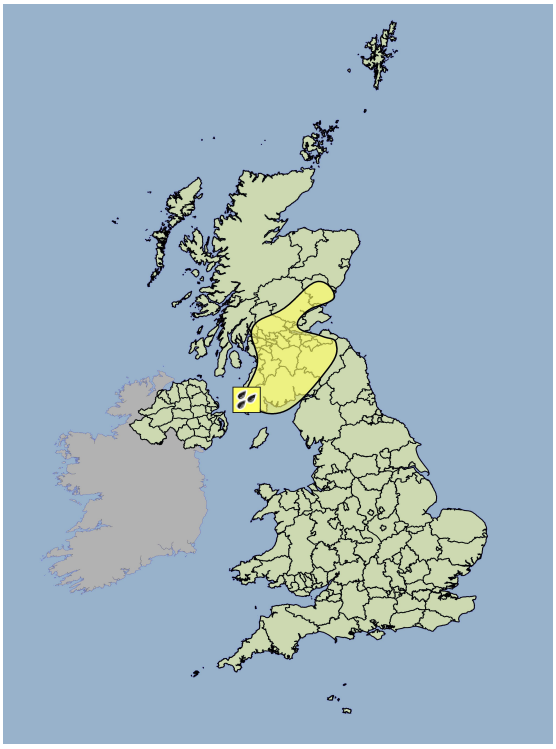
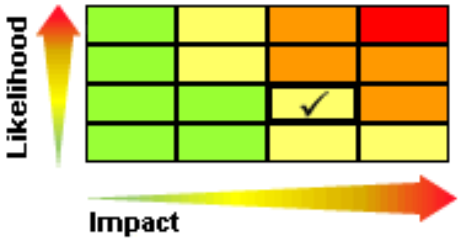
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
An improving process this afternoon and evening, but a slow one, with some impacts still to be expected.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 12:00 on Mon, 30th Dec 2013 until 17:00 on Mon, 30th Dec 2013

Further rain, heavy in places, is expected this afternoon, clearing slowly from the southwest. Thus, the worst of the weather is already beginning to clear from Dumfries and Galloway, but the last of the rain will not clear Angus until after dark. This update extends the risk of flooding for a few hours to take into account slightly slower clearance across the east, and residual effects in rivers and watercourses.

The public should be aware of the risk of further localised flooding.
